Example introduction 1

In the rest of this part, I will give you examples of useful language you can use to create a map for your audience that will help them to follow your presentation.

I'm going to introduce four examples of how to start a presentation. For each of the example introductions, first, do the listening exercises. Then, read the key sentences and explanations that follow them.

Listening 1

Listen to example introduction 1 and answer questions 1 and 2.

1. What is the main topic of the presentation?
 - a. new products
 - b. side effects
 - c. tooth and gum sensitivity
 - d. bleaching
2. How many parts does the presentation have?
 - a. 1
 - b. 2
 - c. 3
 - d. 4

Listening 2

Now listen to the introduction again. Match the words and phrases in 1~6 with those in a~f.

- | | |
|---|--------------------------|
| 1. Today, I'd like to talk about | a. two new products |
| 2. First, I'll give a brief introduction to | b. our recent case study |
| 3. Next, I'd like to describe | c. possible side effects |
| 4. I'll focus on | d. bleaching |
| 5. In part three, I'm going to look at | e. safe treatment |
| 6. I'll give some suggestions for | f. whitening techniques |

Listening 3

Listen again and complete the sentences. Each space has one word only.

Thank you Chairperson. Good morning, everyone. Today, I'd like to _____ bleaching. My presentation is in four parts. First, I'll _____ a brief introduction to whitening techniques. Next, _____ to describe our recent case study. _____ on two new products. These are wraps and strips. In part three, I'm going to _____ possible side effects, such as tooth and gum sensitivity. Finally, I'll _____ some suggestions for safe treatment. Let me _____ whitening techniques.

Listening 4

Listen again. Look at the script and check your answers.

Thank you, Chairperson. Good morning, everyone. Today, I'd like to talk about bleaching. My presentation is in four parts. First, I'll give a brief introduction to whitening techniques. Next, I'd like to describe our recent case study. I'll focus on two new products. These are wraps and strips. In part three, I'm going to look at possible side effects, such as tooth and gum sensitivity. Finally, I'll give some suggestions for safe treatment. Let me start with whitening techniques.
